EFFECT OF WATERWAY COMPETI-TION ON THE RAILWAYS OF THE COUNTRY.

DIRECT AND INDIRECT SAVING

Conservative Estimate is That in a Single Year It Would Be More Than Enough to Discharge the Entire National Debt.

It was stated in a previous article that waterways produce both direct and indirect savings in the cost of Go and get a pound package of coffee at Van de Zedde's for 30c, and you will get a handsome souvenir with each package.

George Carter took his old you on the content was broken in Dakota transportation and also exert what board granted a saloon license to may be called a creative effect. If the opinion of the United States Have your communion or class pho- sent sous and daughters is found in the army engineers is correct—and this opinion is based upon results actually achieved on the rivers of Europe we have a number of rivers on which, as a letter brimfull of news of their when properly improved, freight can home town. Through it they learn of Omaha last Friday, and is again wield, days and of the many tilings that on carried for much less than by rail. If, therefore, the plan advocated by the National Rivers and Harbors absent ones and keeps alive the fire congress should be carried out-which includes the improvement of all our rivers to such extent as shall be found there is a difference in dispositions. Please do not forget that we always and all cannot be handled alike, but the worst bred boy can be developed into a geod, industrious citizen by proper care and training, if the work is not postponed too long. Environadvisable after expert examinationis not postponed too long. Environ-ment is everything to a child. It than enough to pay off the national

The amount of this savupon some one c se to feed and clothe ing is not everywhere the same, owing him, and who wastes his time about to difference in conditions, but we can get a good general idea of it from most cases the parents bring sorrow to a study of some sample instances.

Freight Rates Affected.

Freight rates from New York to Salt Lake or Spokane are much higher than to San Francisco or Seattle, although the distance is much less, because goods can be carried to the Pacific coast by water, around Cape Horn, while there is no waterway of any kind to the inland cities named. It is not the ocean alone that affects railroad rates. Compare the rates on first class merchandise to river towns and mland towns situated about 250 miles from St. Louis. Towns on the upper Mississippi get a rate of 33 cents a hundred, inland towns pay 63 cents; towns on the Ohio pay 41 cents, inland towns in the same region pay 87.

A still more striking instance, and one showing the direct result of waterway improvement, is to be found on the Columbia river. Before the freight rates on nails, and that class of goods, from Portland to The Dalles were $6.40 per ton. As soon as the locks were finished and the steamboats could get through, the railroad rate dropped to two dollars per tonless than one-third what it was before.

That the difference was due to the river improvement is shown by the fact that rates were not reduced beyond the point to which the steamboats could run. For instance, the rate on salt in car load lots was $1.50 per ton to The Dalles, and $10.20 per ton to Umatilla-$1.50 per ton for the 88 miles with water competition and $8.70 per ton for the next 100 miles without. These rates have since been reduced as the improvement has proceeded, and when the work is finished and boats can run far up the Columbia river and to Lewiston and other point in Idaho on its principal tributary, the Snake river, the people in all that region will benefit not only by the direct saving on goods carried by water, but also by the indirect saving through the reduced rate on goods carried by rail. Exactly similar results would follow the radical improvement of rivers all over the United States.

Indirect Saving Large.

There is, however, no possible way of finding out just how much this indirect saving would be. Rates on some freight would be reduced greatly, on some freight slightly, on some, perhaps, not at all. But, we can get some idea of the amount of freight which might be influenced. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, the total amount of freight handled by the railroads of the United States was 1,796,336,659 tons. Some of this was hauled a short distance, some a long distance, and some was handled by more than one road, but it was equal to 236,601,390,103 tons hauled one mile. If the comprehensive improvement of our waterways should make an average reduction of one mill per fectual and doing her lots of good."

If you have any trouble with your stomach or bowels give them a trial.

Fred Tressler, who resided here last fall with his mother, is in Sioux City police court, charged with helping pad the payroll of the Omaha railroad.

Tressler had just returned from the reform school at Kenney when here Mrs. H. V. Brown and child, who in the fiscal year.
